The Book who would like to be a Video Game.

- This book knows its position in space,
- It recognizes north and south
- It senses the pressure of your hands
- It has a notion of time
- It can generate sound...

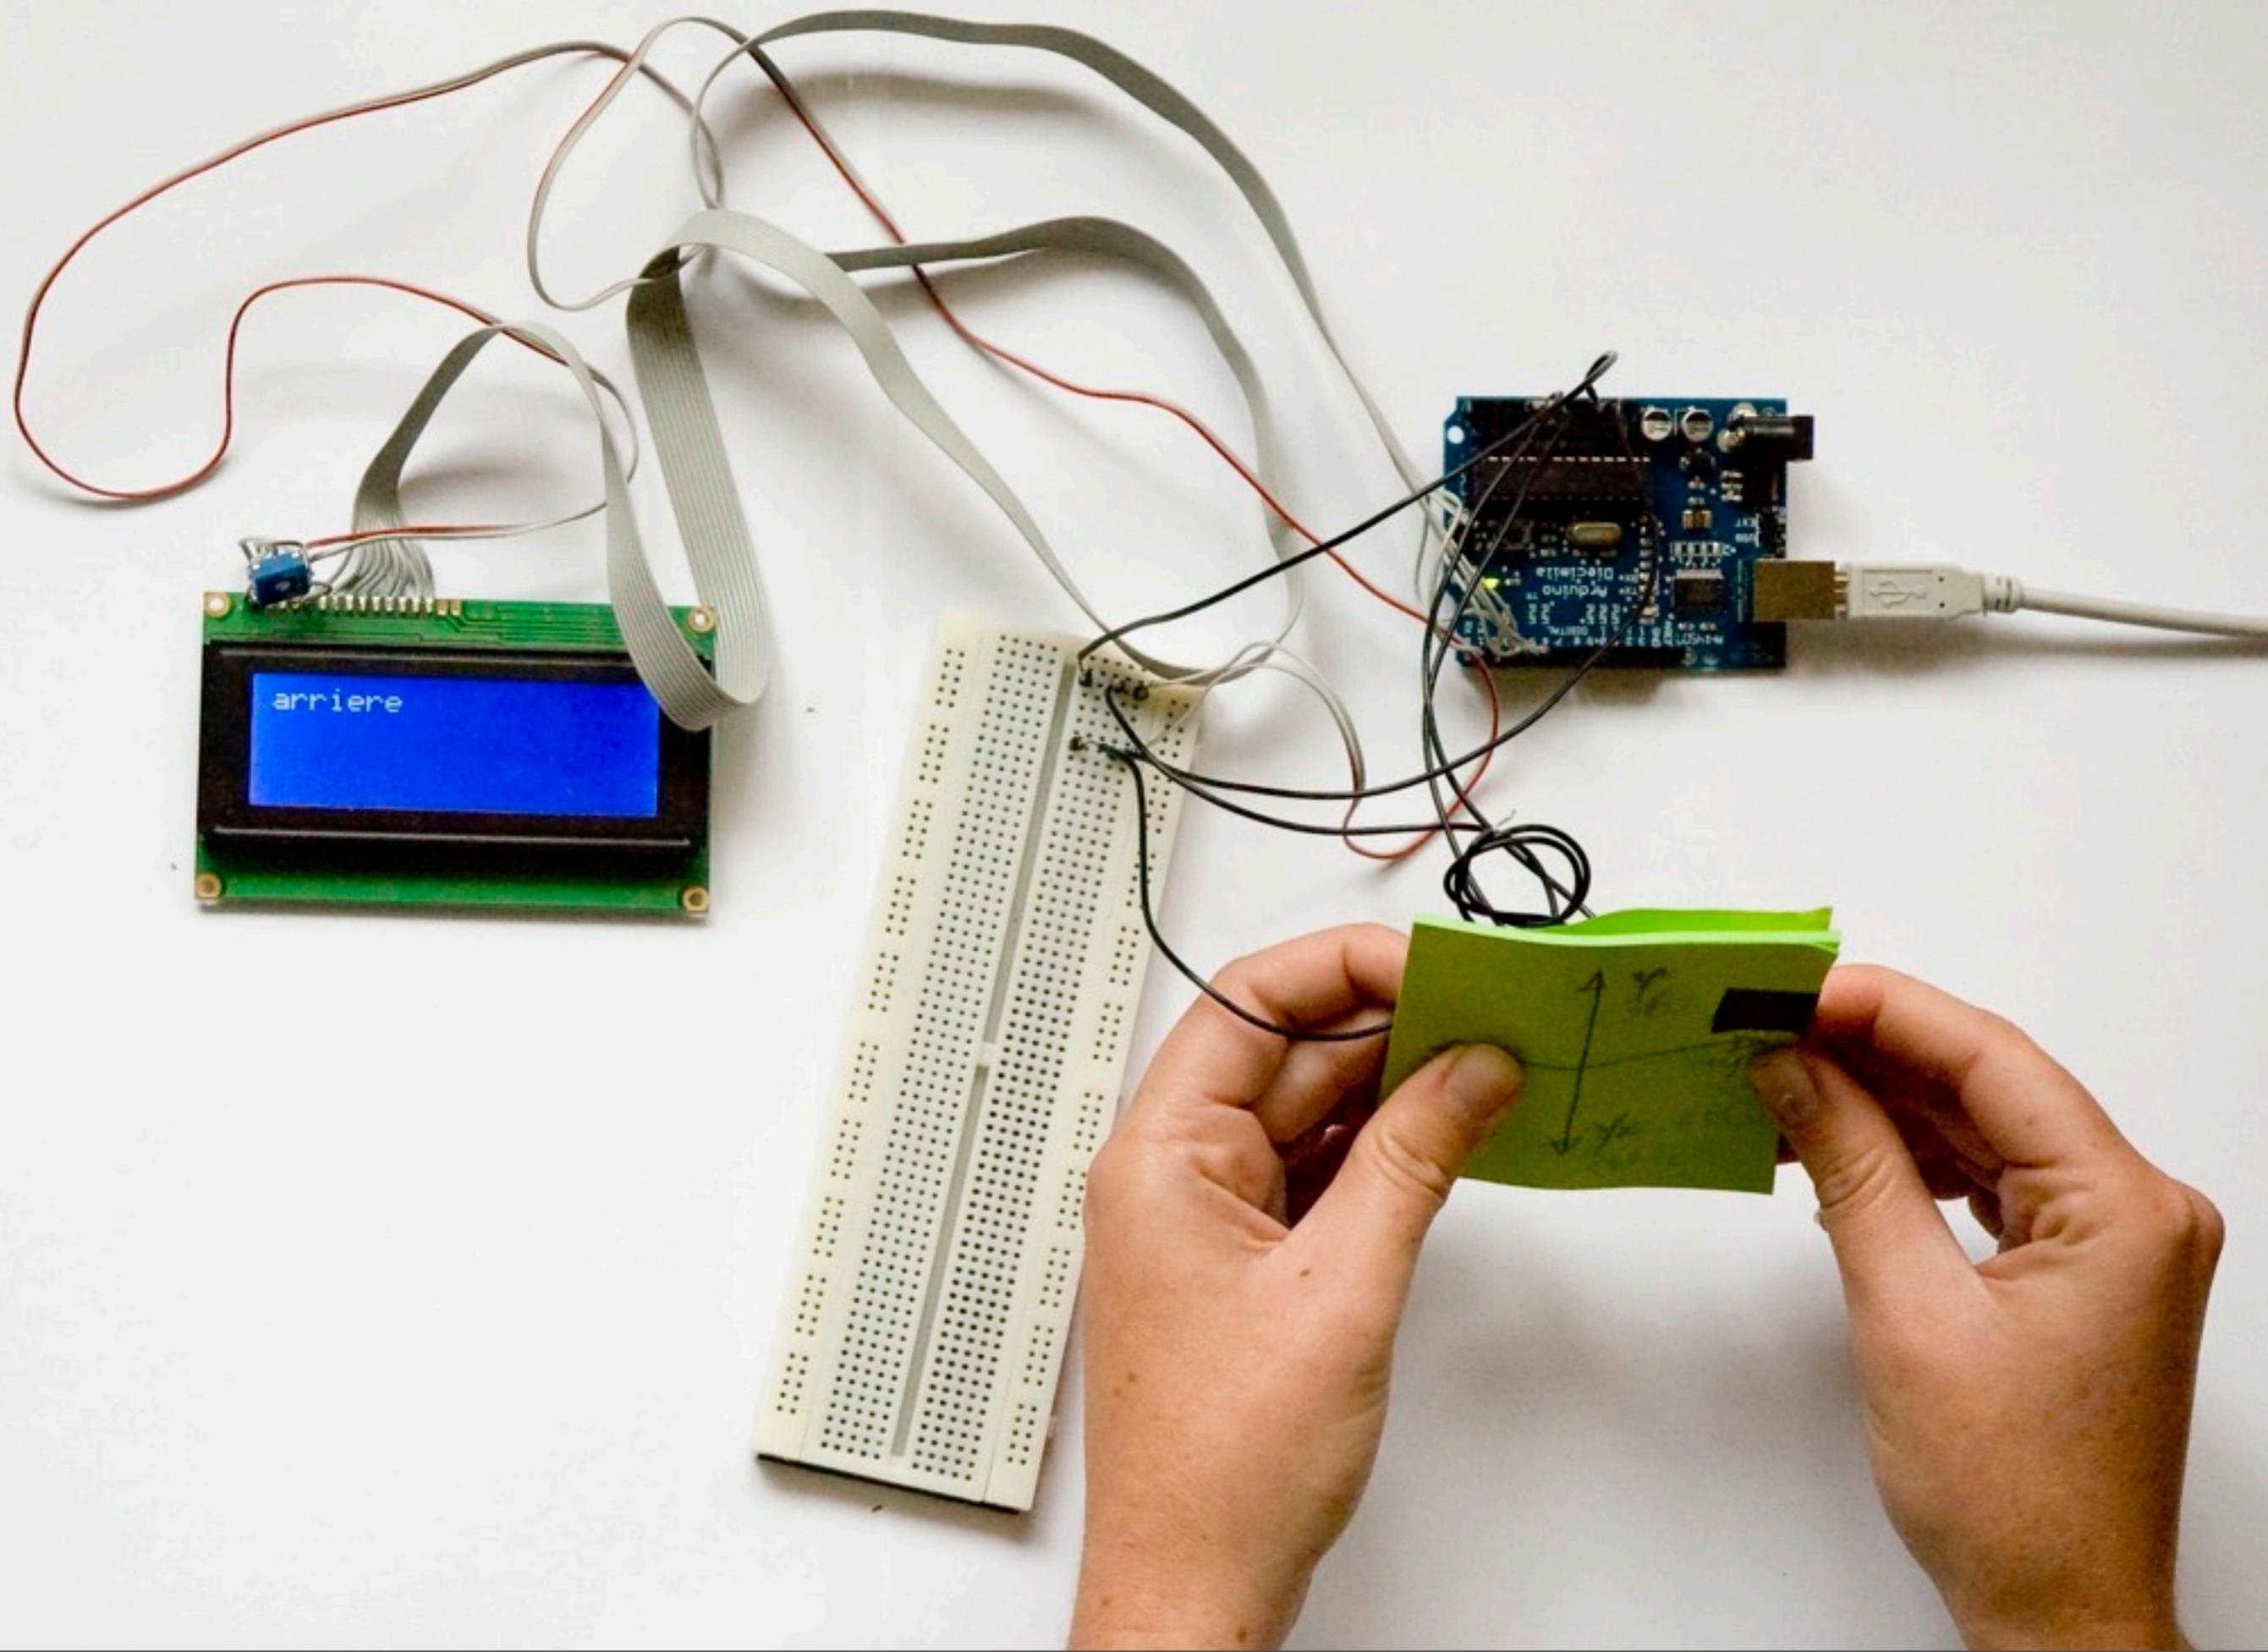

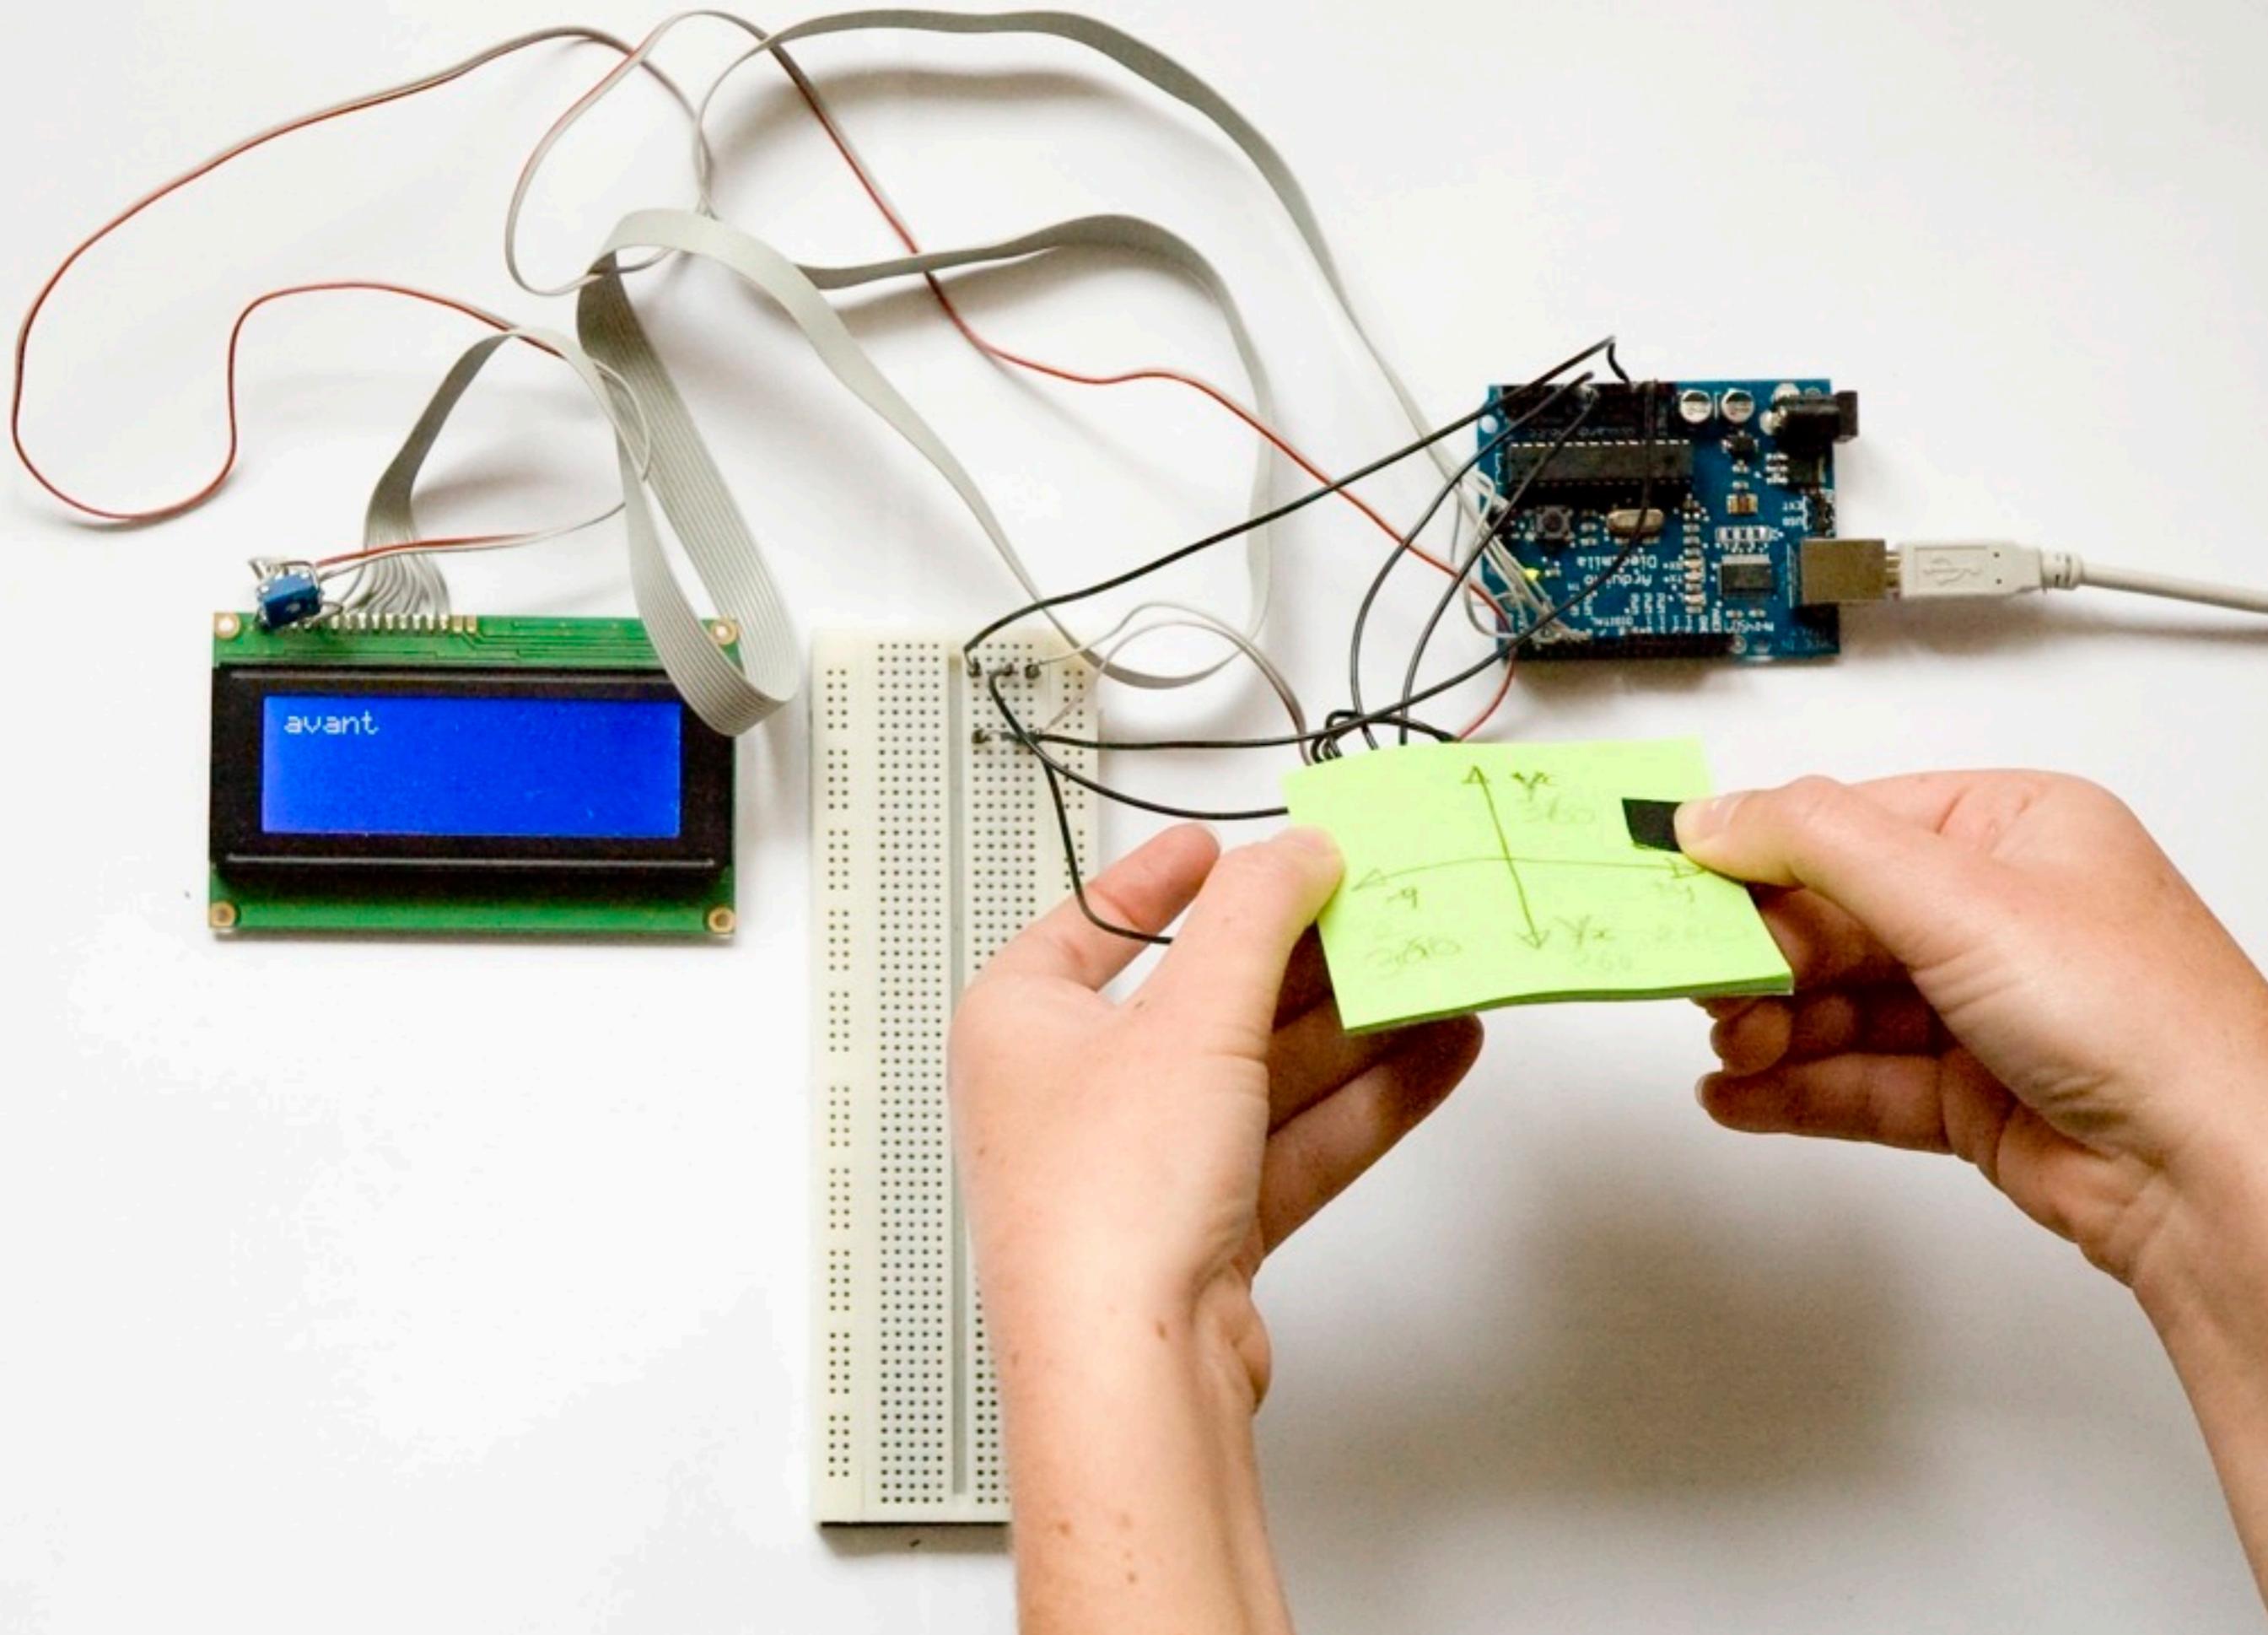

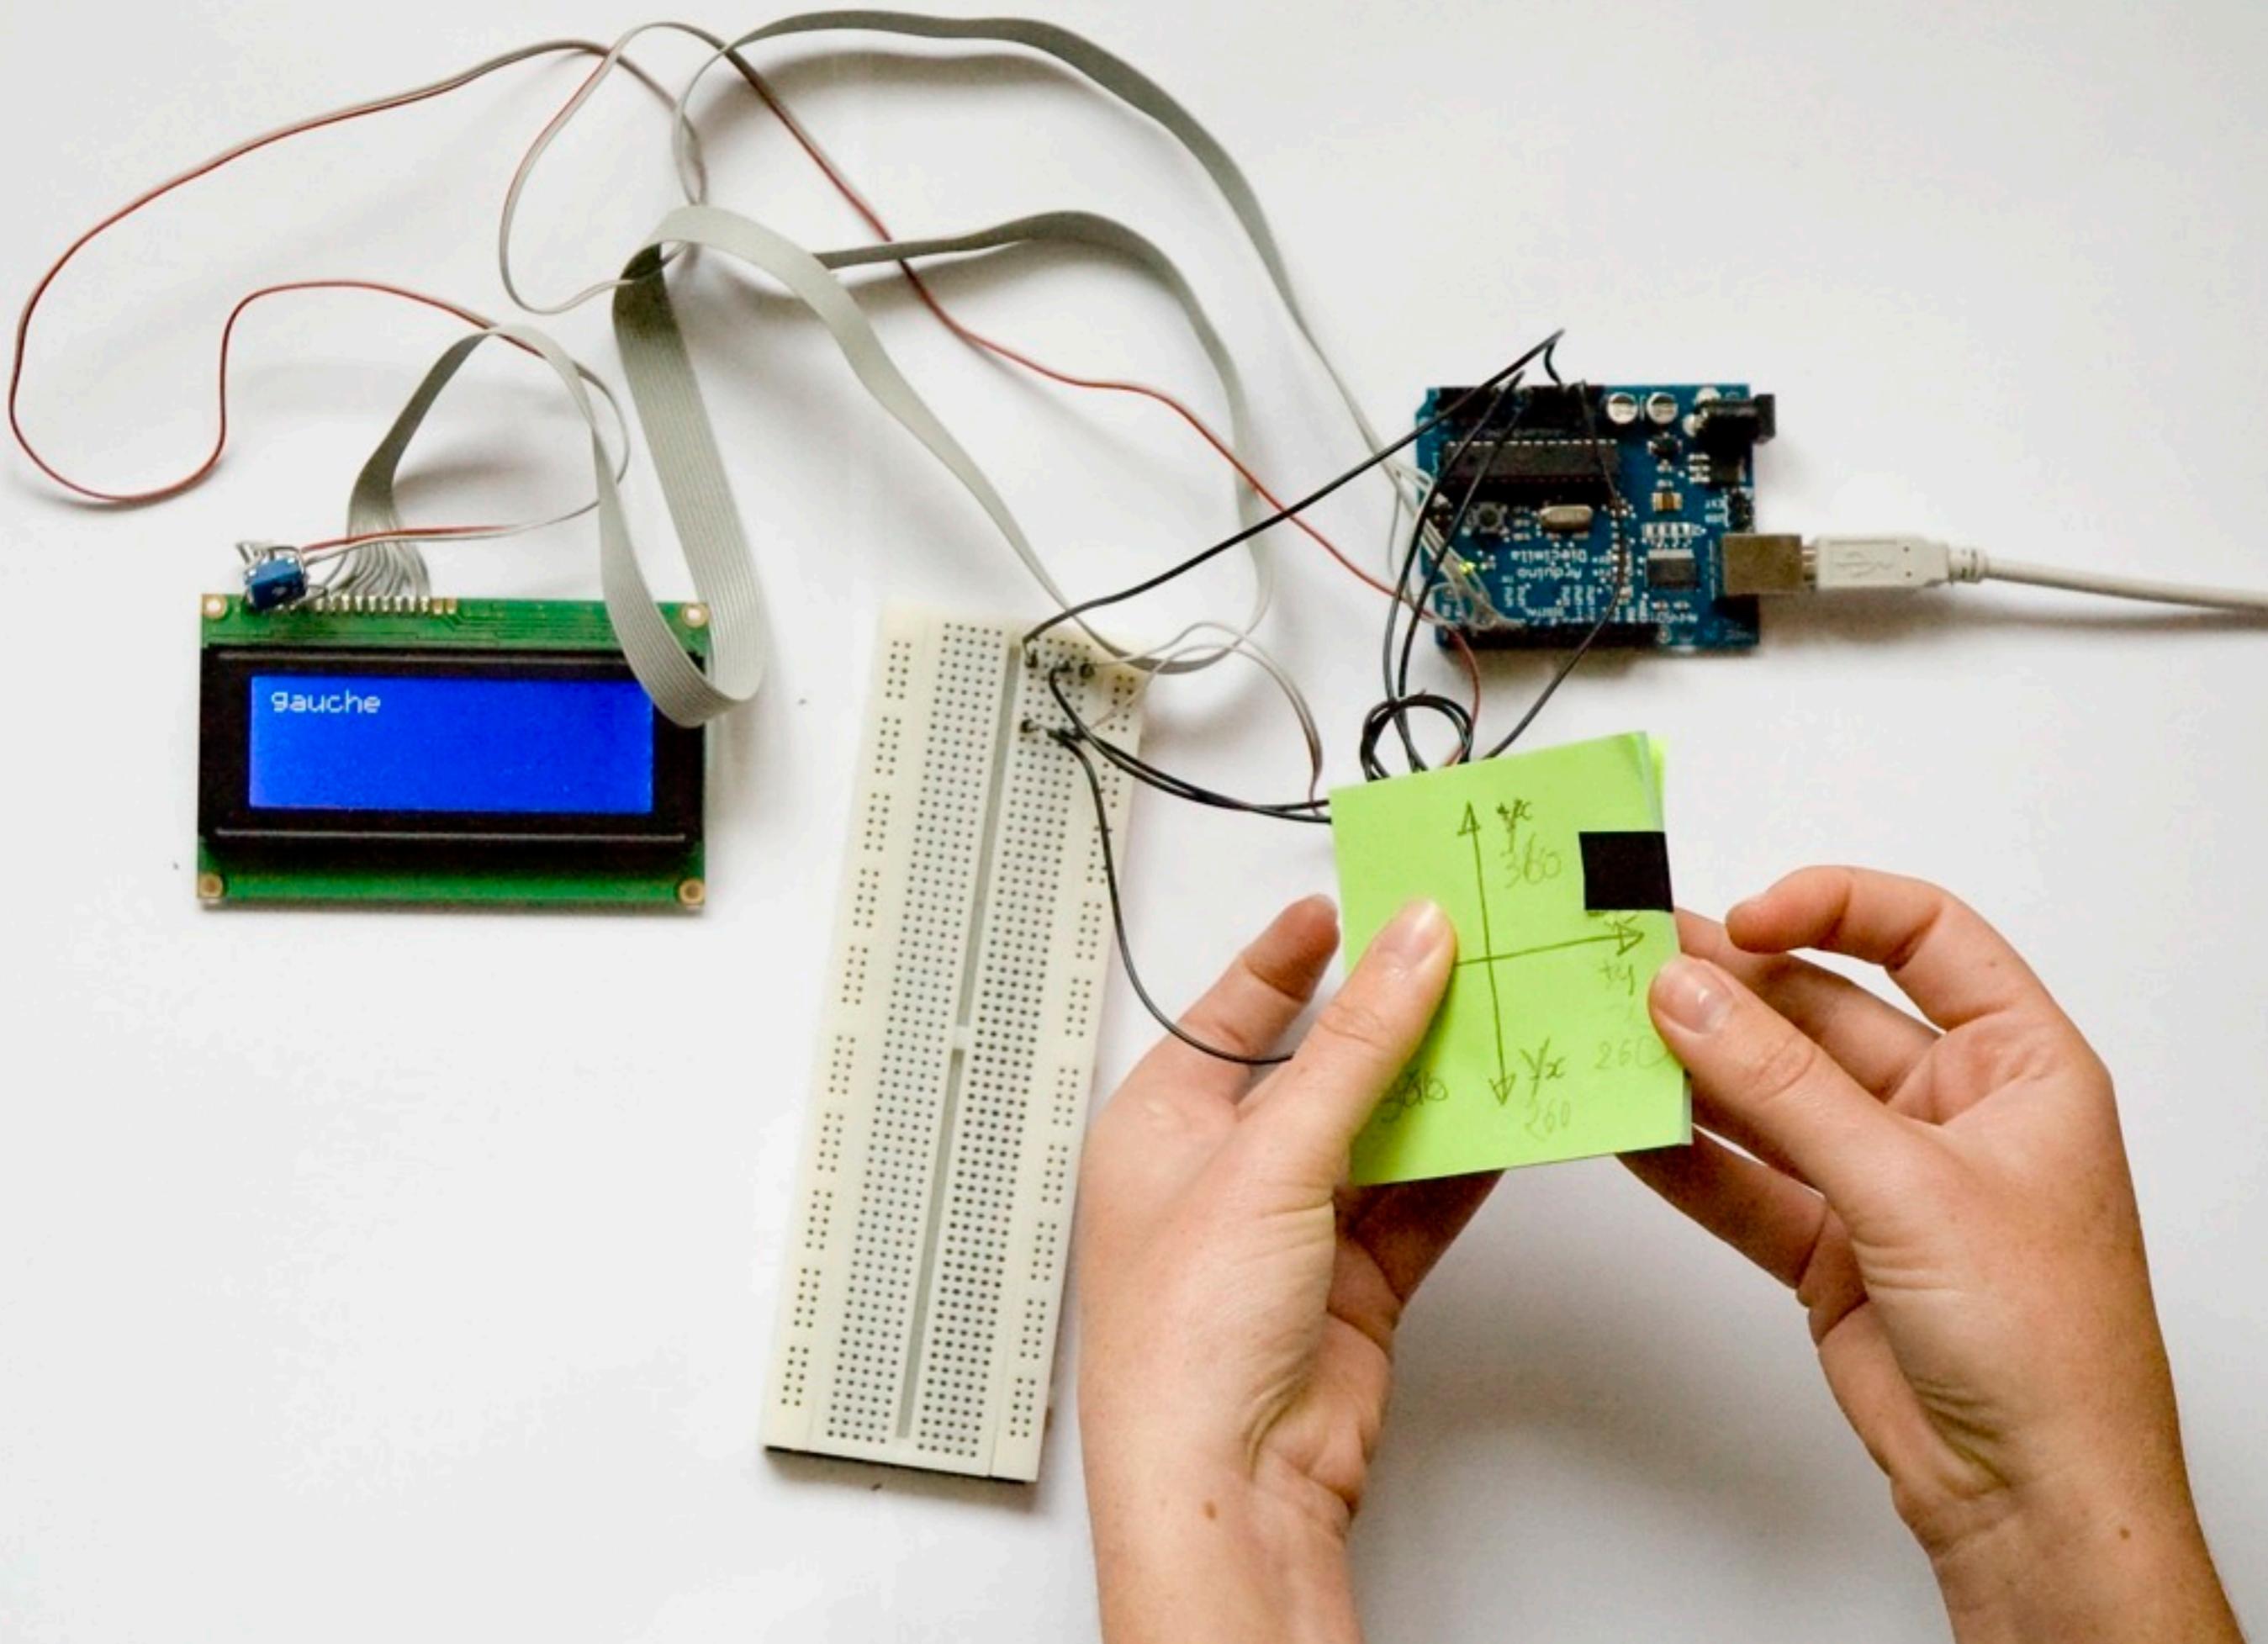

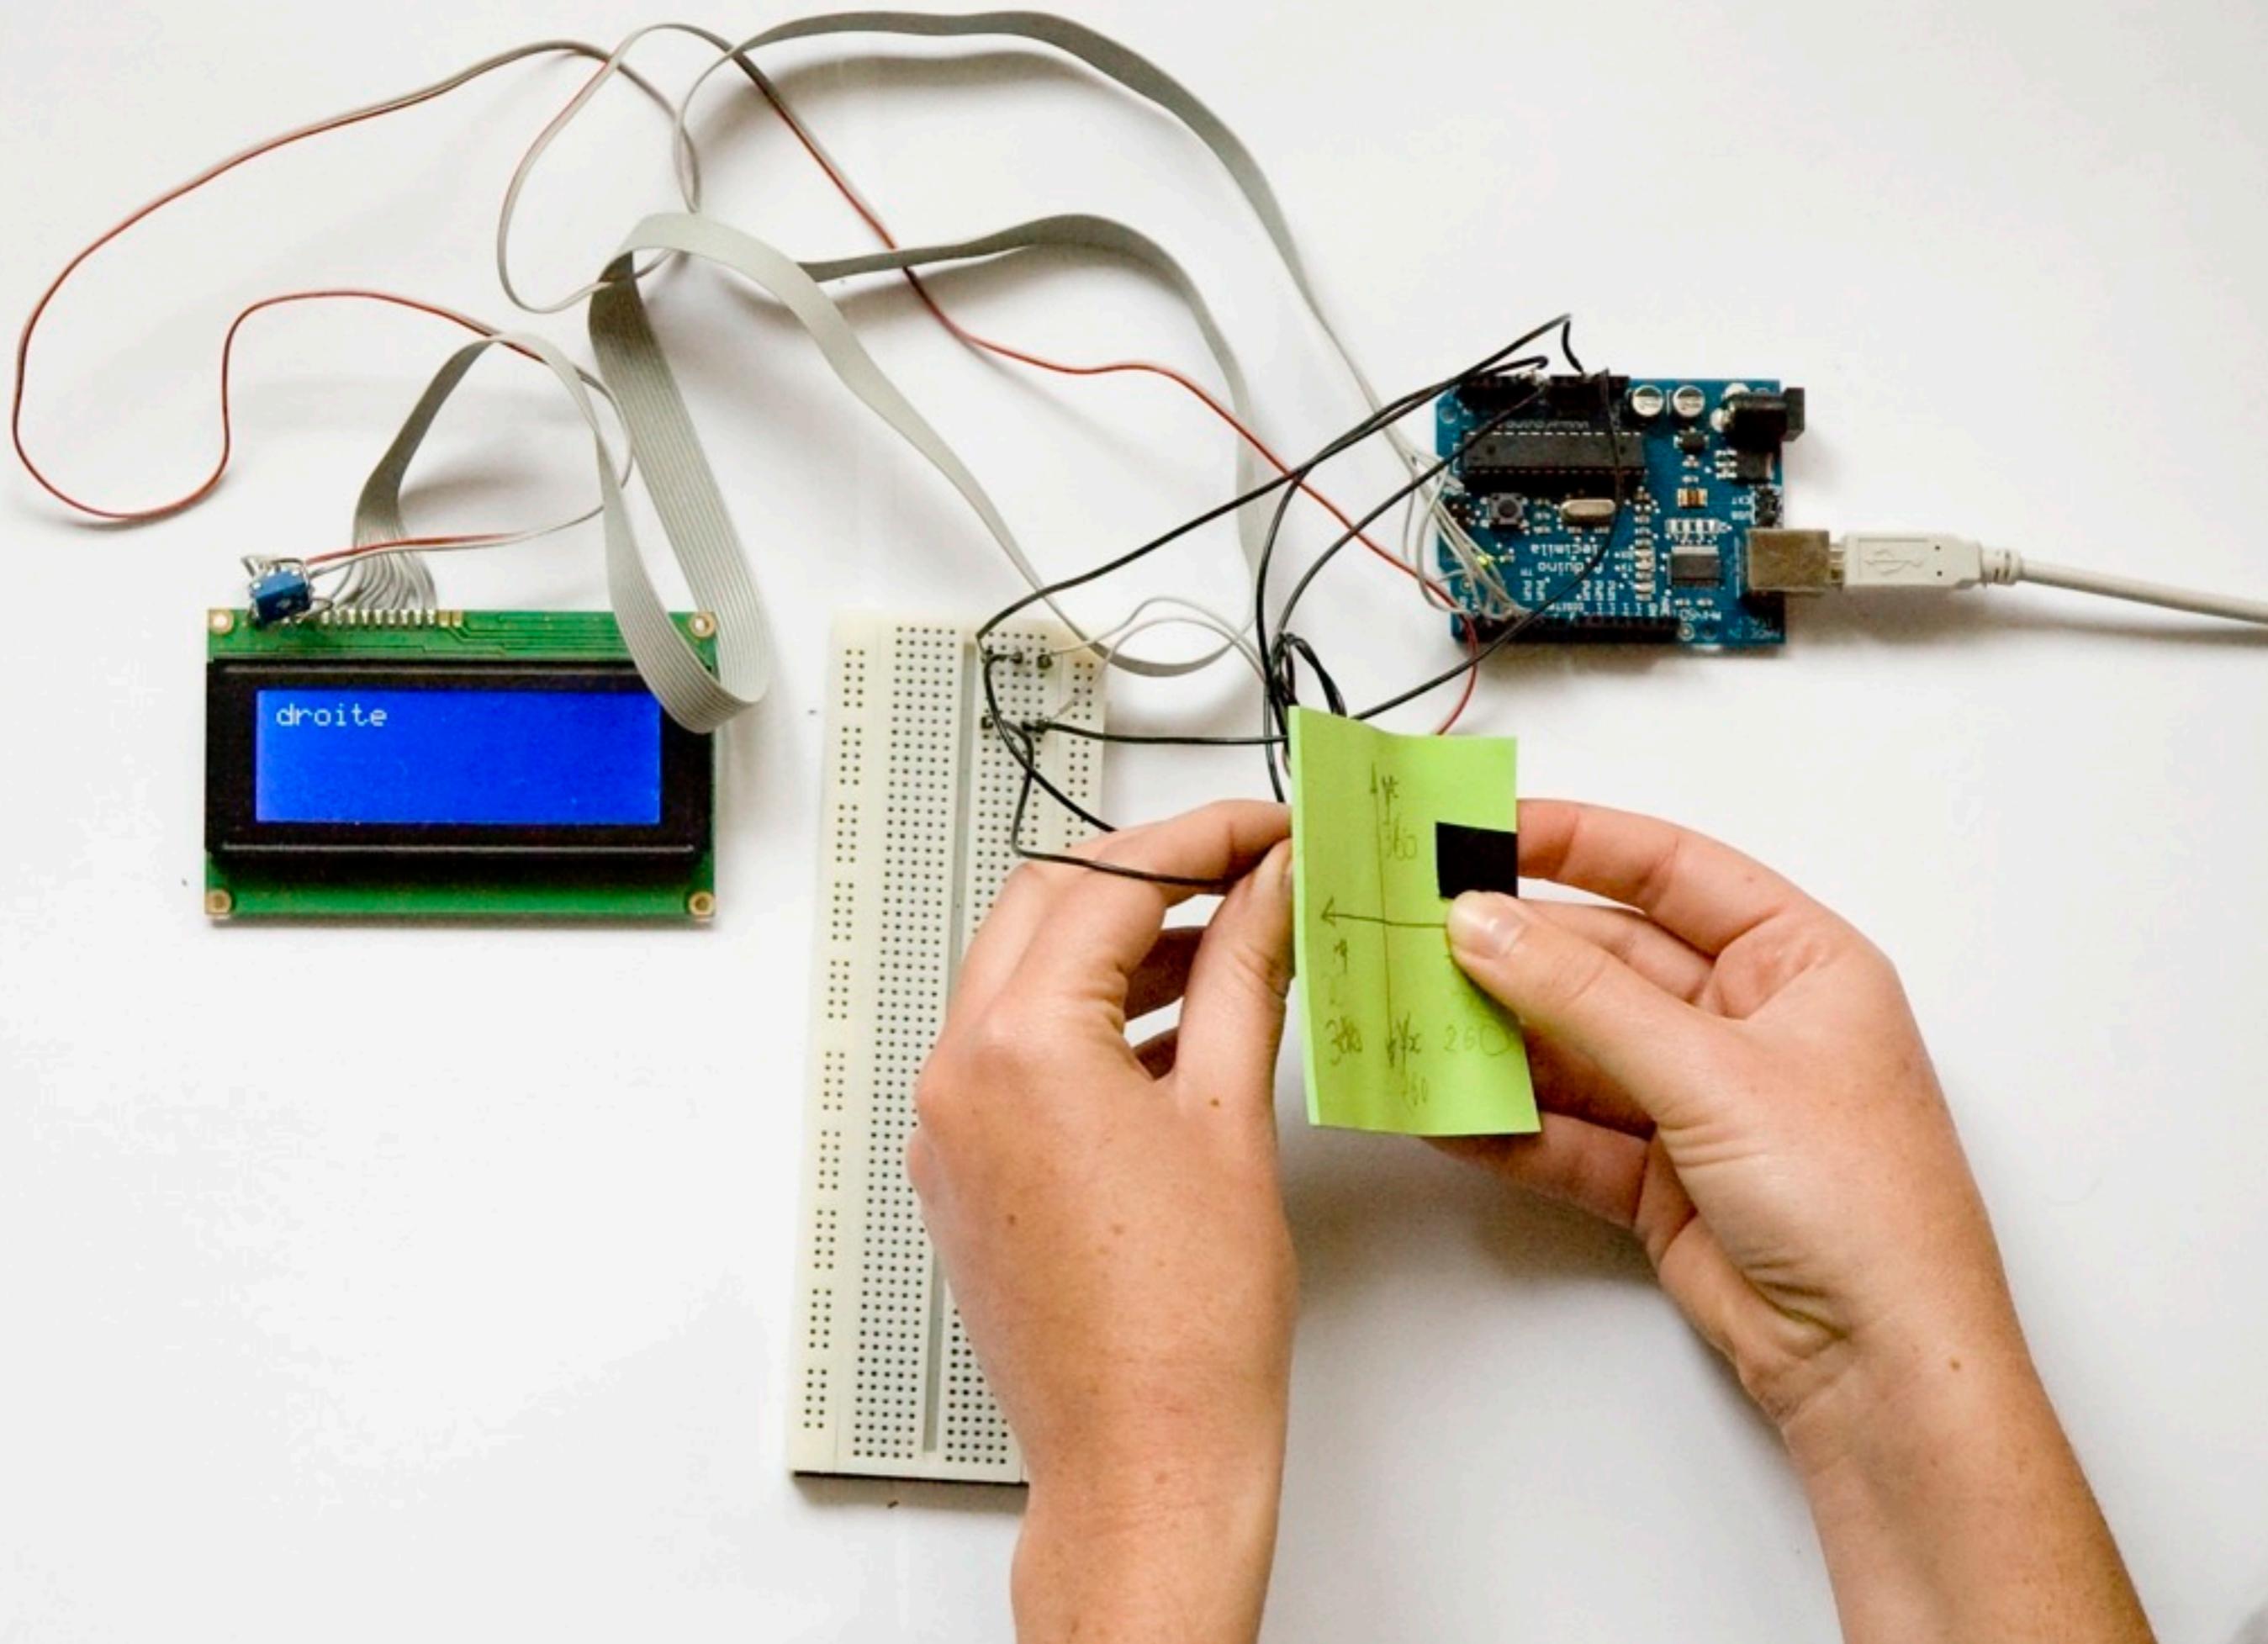

-Here is an example of a position sensor on a piece of paper.

You place your phone at a certain location on the map. Then you can move it from frame to frame and the phone tracks where it is on the map. On each frame, animations, islands, boats, sea monsters appear by magic on your phone.

We are currently developing this board game for four players.
